A wide-angle photograph of a traditional Chinese water town. The scene is dominated by a calm, dark green canal that runs horizontally across the frame. On both sides of the canal are rows of traditional buildings with light-colored, textured walls and dark, tiled roofs. Many of the buildings have red lanterns hanging from their eaves. The sky above is filled with heavy, dark clouds. In the center of the canal, the word "FIN" is written in large, bold, gold letters.
